THE LATEST GOSSIP
IN SPORTING CIRCLES

once representatives of the present belligerents had met on a Dutch playing field the process would develop of itself very quickly, leading to a full restoration of the valuable international sport.

To any pessimist inclined to ask whether the warring nations will have any men to spare for sport after the present slaughter, the writer points out that football is still being played week by week in Britain, that a Belgian eleven quite recently played a leading Hague team, that a football match took place three weeks ago at Vienna, between Austria and Hungary, and that football is being regularly played just behind the fighting front. Furthermore he states that there are at present cycle races, cross country and athletic contests being held in war-ridden Belgium; cycling and running races in Berlin, and that German soldiers obtain leave from the front to go and participate in the latter contests.

Reports from those close to auto racing authorities are to the effect that the Vanderbilt cup and Grand Prize trophy races will not be allotted for speedway competition during 1916. It is said that the members of the Motor Cups Holding corporation are strongly opposed to shifting these automobile race classics from roads to track courses. Unless there is a change in the deeds of gifts it appears as though these two best known of American auto racing trophies will go uncompleted for during the present year.

Several eastern polo teams are expected to enter the Coronado Country club tournament at Coronado, Cal., next month. The tournament, which runs from March 1 to 20, will include several valuable trophies such as the California Challenge, Pacific Coast Junior Championship, Pacific Coast All-American and other valuable prizes some of which have been in competition almost a decade. Among the eastern experts who have sent strings of ponies to the far coast for early polo play are Malcolm Stevenson, C. Perry Beadleston, G. M. Heckler and Thomas Le Boutellier.

Alma Richards, winner of the high jump at the Olympic games in Stockholm four years ago and American Decathlon champion, has taken up pole vaulting. Richards, who has won many points for Cornell in the high and broad jumps as well as the shot put, believes that he can clear better than twelve feet in the vault. Trainer Jack Moakley is not particularly keen for the Cornell star to compete in this event for fear that he will injure himself and deprive the Ithaca university of several points in the intercollegiate championships next May. Moakley has had a specially heavy and strong vaulting pole made for Richards and has limited his vaults to date to 11 feet 6 inches. Richards has had little difficulty in clearing the bar at this height and is ready to try the twelve foot leap as soon as Moakley gives his consent.

PYTHIANS WILL CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

Tomorrow is the birthday of Pythianism and will be celebrated throughout the world. The following data regarding the order was secured from a member of Mizpah lodge, No. 25:

Justus Henry Rathbone, the founder of the order of Knights of Pythias, was born in the town of Deerfield, Oneida county, New York, October 29, 1839. His education was obtained in Mount Vernon boarding school, Courtland academy, Carlisle seminary and Madison state university.

After this he led a roving life, suddenly disappearing from his home in 1857, his family learned nothing of him for quite a long time and, when they did hear, they found that he was touring the west as part proprietor in a minstrel company.

He was passionately fond of music, and was a good performer on many different musical instruments and this coupled with his capabilities led him to follow the stage for a time and one of his ventures in this line proved disastrous in the northern peninsula of Michigan. He was stranded in the copper country of that state. Being fresh from his books he was competent to teach and therefore seized an opportunity which was offered to take charge of a country school there at Eagle Harbor.

In 1861 his father died. This caused his return to the east, where the served the government in hospital work during the Civil war.

It was in the fall of 1863 that Justus H. Rathbone conceived the idea to establish the order of Knights of Pythias and on the 19th of February, 1864, Washington lodge, No. 1, K. of P. was fully launched and one of the greatest fraternal orders was heralded to the world.

Justus H. Rathbone died at Lima, Ohio, December 9, 1889. The above is a brief sketch of the founder of one of the leading fraternities. Over a million and a half neophytes took the pledges of friendship, charity and benevolence and followed the teachings of that great trinity.

Tomorrow, the 19th of February, the fire will glow around the Pythian altar in every castle hall within the bounds of the supreme domain and Pythians everywhere will celebrate that day in a fitting manner and revere the name of Justus Henry Rathbone, the founder, who builded greater than he dreamed of. He was buried at Utica, New York.

This splendid order today has four great auxiliaries: The Uniform Rank, The Dramatic Order of Knights of Khorassan, The Pythian Sisters and The Insurance Department of Knights of Pythias.

The insurance department of the Knights of Pythias was instituted in 1877 and it has paid its beneficiaries since that time the enormous sum of $29,675,685.30. It has a total reserve fund to secure payments of certificates of $7,288,768.09, and its total assets are $7,767,559.04.

game. It so happens that the schedule as arranged, leaves the two teams in the first division to fight it out tonight, and the two in the second division to strive for consolation prizes. The Las Vegas-Bunkerville game will be the fastest and cleanest game of basketball ever played on a local court. The teams are of a size, each is in excellent condition, and each knows a great deal of good basketball.

The Manhattan-Tonopah game will be no less exciting. Much local feeling is in evidence, and a previous defeat has made the visitors more determined than ever to win.

Following the game there will be a dance. The floor is being put in excellent condition today by Happy Bowler, dance promoter, and the school orchestra, under Mr. Cross, is tuning up in good shape.

The University of Nevada Alumni association will meet after the games and dance. All alumni and former students are urged to be present. will be potash fertilizer salts, which can be had only in limited quantities. vicinity. The mine was located in 1905 and six shafts ranging from 50 to 100 feet in depth were sunk. Mr. James Pike, superintendent of the Tonopah Jim Butler, examined the property this week and advised a plan of development which will be undertaken forthwith, to pave the way for the construction of a calcining plant costing $50,000. The company represented by Mr. Barndt expects to spend another $50,000 before production begins. By the first of May shipments will begin and if the tonnage justifies the plant will be enlarged indefinitely. Alum contains a high percentage of potash salt.

The decision of the Barndt company will furnish a market for alum brought in from Columbus Marsh, the site of a prehistoric lake, situated between Coaldale and Silver Peak. Employees of the John S. Cook bank, of Goldfield, are interested in a company drilling for potash in the marsh, where several strong ledges of alum have been tapped, and they are elated over the prospect of realizing on a venture they have been nursing for two years.

Profits from the manufacture of any grade of potash are enormous, and with the prospect of European hostilities being protracted here is every incentive to embark in the business when the slightest encouragement is found. The Armour company, which installed a 35-ton plant at Marysville, Utah, for the treatment of alunite, is netting $100,000 a month profit, and when the plant is enlarged next month the net profits are estimated at $300,000 a month. The total Marysville production to May 1, 1916, has been sold for $200 a ton.

Muriate of potash commands $600 a ton and none is to be had at that price. Before the war the price was $29. The sulfate used for fertilizer has sold for $75 a ton. All prices were raised, 5 to 7 times the quotations previous to the war, and in a few instances, as the one of potassium permanganate, prices advanced

A dispatch from Washington to the Sprague company forecasts an early settlement of the Trena company's potash litigation, in San Bernardino county, California, thru the efforts of John Hays Hammond, who has proposed a plan approved by the Interior department for the development of potash claims by individual locators. This contemplates several separate pumps for raising the brines which will be treated at a central plant. The government will receive a royalty under the conservation act and the production of potash will be enormously stimulated. The message states that the Solvay company and the Borax Smith interests are willing to join in the plan.

That this is no poor man's game is proven by the fact that the first assessment for construction will call for $2,000,000 or $200,000 each from the ten tributaries interested in the San Bernardino potash deposits.

BUTLER THEATER

William Farnum, the famous dramatic photoplay star, in a Fox production, "A Soldier's Oath," will be seen at the Butler this evening. A story of love, faith and retribution played amid the crash and tragedy of international warfare. Few of the so-called war dramas of the present day possess as wide an appeal as "A Soldier's Oath," which has been invested with unusual realism and in which real French and German soldiers are used. It graphically depicts the horrors of war, but surpasses other war dramas in that the continuity of the story has not been marred by a too liberal use of long, tiresome battle scenes. See the prison fire, in which real convicts appear. The burning 42 centimeter gun, and other features which make this photoplay one without parallel.

The preliminary reel will be "The Professional Diner," a Sidney Drew comedy.

Tomorrow a big double bill. Charlie Chaplin in the latest two-reel Essanay Chaplin success, "A Night in the Show," in which he plays a double role, appearing as a rowdy and in full dress at the same time, and a Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Feature, with Earle Williams and Anita Stewart in "My Lady's Slipper."
